Property Owners Ask County Court to Oust Explosives Storehouse From Penn Valley

Lower Merion Defendant in Action by Percival Roberts, Jr., and Guy Croyle.

HEARING THIS MORNING

A bill in equity has been filed against Lower Merion Township in the Court of Common Pleas, Norristown, it became known this week. The petition asks for the removal of the high-explosive storehouses from Centennial Road, Penn Valley. The hearing is scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning.

Percival Roberts, Jr., and Guy Croyle are the plaintiffs in the suit, which is being handled by the law firm of Evans, Bayard & Friels, through Attorney Charles W. Gamble, of Haverford.

Agitation for the removal of the menace began early in April after the Devon disaster. A reporter for this paper, learning of the two storehouses, took pictures which were published in these columns with a description of the wooden shack and concrete "pill-box." The city papers later picked up the story.

The bill in equity, which describes the situation in detail, follows:

Percival Roberts, Jr., and Guy Croyle, Plaintiffs, vs. Township of Lower Merion and Atlas Powder Company, a Delaware Corporation, Defendants.

To the Honorable, the Judges of the said Court:

Plaintiffs on their own behalf and for such other owners of land and residents in the vicinity of the hereinafter described tract of land of the Township of Lower Merion as may join in this complaint, complain and say:

1. Defendant, Lower Merion Township is the owner of a triangular tract

Miss Michaelsen is prominent in other activities at the college. She was a member of the varsity hockey team and of her class baseball and basketball teams. She was chairman of the costume committee for the freshmen musical comedy, and is now a member of the college dramatic club.

Record Crowd Sees Hilldale Win Again

Graham and Durbin Fail to Hold Darby Club Who Tally 16 Hits to Win.

FINAL SCORE WAS 10 TO 3

By John Uberti

Cheered by a vast and tumultuous crowd numbering close to 2000, the ever dominating Hilldale Clan gave the Narberth boys another usual shellacking when they bunched sixteen substantial hits as compared with six nicks by the Borough nine to snare an easy victory, 10 to 3.

That bright flame that so brightly shines with the Davismen early in battle was quickly extinguished by a deluge of safeties from the bats of the Darby nine and the Champions of the Main Line never even felt the glory of a rally. Led by Lewis, of the keystone sack, who proved Graham's greatest nemesis by clouting him four times in as many trips to the plate, the Darby Daisies made a relentless

Some Fish Story

A fishing expedition to Beach Haven on Sunday netted Edward C. Peters, of Woodbine Avenue, a catch of one fish weighing 75 pounds, believe it or not. It is thought to be a Ray fish, which is an inhabitant of tropical waters and is rarely found this far north. It had five rows of teeth and a mouth like a codfish. Mr. Peters had to lash it to the rear bumpers of his car to get it home.

Annapolis Graduate

Robert Melville Patten, son of Captain and Mrs. Fred C. Patten, of Woodside Avenue, who graduated yesterday from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. He was appointed to the Academy by former Senator George Wharton Pepper. A graduate of Lower Merion High School, Patten played quarterback on the Maroon football team. His marriage to Miss Mary Dold, of Narberth, will take place on June 14.

Boro Playgrounds to Open July 7th

Many New Features, Including Two Tennis Courts, to Be Available.

LIST MANY ACTIVITIES

The Narberth Playgrounds will be open to the children and adults of the Borough on Monday, July 7, and it is hoped that the attendance this summer will surpass even that of last.

Everything possible is being done to make the grounds more attractive for the children. There are two new tennis courts on the Community Playground, and not one boy or girl should fail to take advantage of the opportunity to learn to play tennis. Instruction will be given at stated intervals (children will supply their own racquets and balls, plainly marked in ink). There is also besides the four chair swings of last summer, an additional set of six swings similar to those on the school playground.

A fence has been erected on the Montgomery Pike side of the school playground. This will add greatly to the safety of the children, and also facilitate the playing of many games.

Last summer there was a belief among the children that the main playground activities were to be found at the community playground. This is not so, however, as each playground is equipped smiilarly with the exception of archery, which is limited to the school playground, while tennis is played only on the community play-

As a result of lacings in tow league games during the past week at the hands of Dunkirk on Memorial Day and Paoli on Saturday, Narberth now holds undisputed position of the cellar position in the league standing. The morning game on Memorial Day was the only balm of Gilead for the Borough batsmen, as they also dropped Wednesday night's game to their dark-skinned nemesis, Hilldale.

Paoli Game
By John Uberti.

Six blunders charged to three players of the Narberth Club swerved the promising flow of combat and turned imminent triumph into defeat when miscues by Kearney at second base paved the way to Paoli's win over the Davismen on Saturday by the score of 8-5. The borough nine were cast into last place due to their double defeat over the week-end holiday while Berwyn now heads the league in a deadlock with Media.

McKee's distinguished accomplishment on the hill for the Main Line monarchs won the praise of the entire audience and the unanimous acclamation of every member of the rival club who commented on the semi-professional's blinding fast ball. McKee allowed the foemen merely three hits up until the fifth frame, but then walked off the premises in disgust when the number of transgressions in the infield began to vie with the scoring column.

Hired from the South Philadelphia League to silence the bats of the Davismen, Popalek, of the opposing clan, found the Narberth batsmen a puzzling bunch to solve and, by rare fortune, left the diamond a victorious moundsman, the victory made possible by slovenly infield exhibition.

Legion Affair Was a Complete Success

Great Crowd Enjoys 'A Night Over There' at Merion Tribute House

"A Night Over There," the Legion's affair at Merion Tribute House on Wednesday evening of last week, was a complete success from every standpoint, and pleased and happy indeed are all the principals and participants as a consequence.

Never, it is said, was our neighboring suburb's handsome house of memories utilized by such overflowing numbers, with all its various rooms occupied the night long with one thing or another, and there was a unanimity that the service men had lived up to all the representations made for their auspicious occasion.

The card trophies were scattered with a lavish hand among the nearly 300 players and to make sure there was an extra good measure of good nature, door-gifts of cash and silver-plate were made. The first went to Miss Jane A. Morris, who, with a wealthy sister, lives in the house on the hill in Essex Avenue, and the second to Mrs. Edward S. Haws, whose gentle and beneficent influence on our Damon and Pythias are well known in the community.

It was also reported that Mrs. Haws did not do so badly on the Radio game, but definite reports on that score shall have to pend until a competent casuist passes judgment on what one should do with money when one is not sure what one should do, because one never won before and should one keep what one won, or if that is not the question, won't you please state it, Mrs. Haws, as this pertubing problem must at last be settled, and no doubt about it.

Still they came, these gifts, this time to William S. Howard, the trusted treasurer, a beautiful pen set, which the ruddy realtor accepted in a rousing and inspiring speech, as follows:

In recognition of his part in the activities, J. J. Cabrey received an inscribed clock of exquisite handiwork and design, obviously the selection of discerning judgment and discriminating care, and surely a pretty thing to be highly prized, as is the gracious and kindly thought which prompted the award.

The committees of the occasion were as follows:

Citizens' Advisory Committee: Edward S. Haws, Dr. Leroy A. King, Daniel Leitch, Robert J. Snyder, Fletcher W. Stites, Esq., Robert Fellows Wood.

Community Committee: E. A. Bailey, Charles H. Beyer, Raymond A. Cabrey, Michael Collins, C. P. Cook, Captain W. J. Crosson, George M. Dando, E. P. Dold, Robert J. Dothard, Joseph S. Dougherty, Ralph S. Dunne, R. H. Durbin, Mrs. Louise J. Faries, W. H. Fretz, Samuel Laird, Paul R. Loos, J. L. McCreary, Dr. R. P. Mackinnon, C. H. Nold, Alan J. Smith, Dr. R. M. Staley, Harry B. Wall, Walton M. Wentz, Horton Williamson, Elizabeth B. Wilson.

Legion Committee: Robert C. Collins, chairman; C. J. Clarke, Earl Dickie, William C. Fretz, Charles H. Greyer, John C. Nash, Frank A. Schrepfer, Allan E. Shubert. Post commander, Arthur L. Cooke, ex-officio.

Treasurer: William S. Howard; chairman of program committee: Charles H. Greyer; chairman of ticket distribution: Mrs. Arthur L. Cooke.

And the music was rendered by our own young Bob Dothard and his valiant troupe, and, not to be outdone in the spirit of extra value which generally prevailed, he brought along, as a special number, an Ethiopian entertainer, who was altogether elegant. Bob and his band earned a fine recommendation, and it is a pleasure to here and now freely accord it.

Refreshments were served without stint or limit by the Legion ladies, wives and mothers, and how nice they made everything and how much their bounteous hospitality was appreciated by the hungry and thirsty ones who formed never-ending lines in their quest for more of the same. It is claimed, and it may be true, that Charlie Greyer was at the counter no less than eight times, but, even so, who would have a better right than the program potentate, with the real record he achieved in the most important revenue feature of the eventful evening?

It was a great night, that night, and no question about it!

Stage Special Display During Ford Truck Week

The Richards-Fisher Company, local Ford dealers, announced this week that they will unite with Ford dealers throughout the United States in staging a national Ford truck week here, and that during the week they will arrange special demonstrations of the new four-speed Model AA truck.

National Ford truck week will open Monday, and continue through Saturday, June 14. During that time the display room of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth-Merion dealer at 273-7 Montgomery Avenue, Cynwyd, will be open from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

To familiarize truck users with the mechanical improvements of the Ford, the local dealers will have in their display room a chassis on which the new features will be painted in aluminum. In this way the new transmission, the special spiral bevel gear rear axle, the larger front brakes, the heavier front spring, the front axle nearly twice as strong as formerly, the power take-off opening and the optional dual rear wheels will be readily apparent.

The Richards-Fisher Company will hold open house during the week. They are interested in solving hauling problems for users of all types of trucks and are prepared to demonstrate, any time, the wonderful Ford truck.

Deny Rumors of Sale of Historic Property

Rumors of the sale of the McDowell property located at 815 Montgomery Avenue, Narberth, one of the most historic sites in the Eastern Main Line, to a Philadelphia merchandise establishment, were denied this week by a member of the family. "We have heard such rumors also," she said, "but there is absolutely no truth to them."

The property which is at the corner of Montgomery and Woodbine Avenues, is marked by a tablet bearing the following inscription: "On this and adjacent ground Washington and his army encamped September 14, 1777. Erected by Merion Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, September 14, 1896. Ground presented by Samuel R. McDowell."

The American army was on its way to the encampment at Valley Forge following the battle of Germantown. The route taken was supposed to have led down Meeting House Lane, to this camping spot and thence out Montgomery Avenue, then Old Lancaster Road, to Valley Forge.

Wilson—Wheeler

The marriage of Miss Jane G. Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Wheeler, 456 Fairfax Road, Drexel Park, and Mr. John B. Wilson, 212 Wayne Avenue, Narberth, took place at the home of the bride's parents, at 2 o'clock, Saturday, May 31, 1930, Rev. John Van Ness officiating.

Miss Helen Sims, of Ardmore, was the bride's only attendant. Dr. William J. Hutchinson, of Philadelphia, was the best man.

The ceremony was witnessed by the families of the bride and groom and a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will be at home at Narberth Hall after July 1.

It is said that about 5000 stars are visible on a clear, dark night. And if you don't believe it, count 'em.

Narberth Theatre Notes

"Glorious Vamps," highlights in the lives of history's most famous "vamps," is the newest musical featurette scheduled for presentation at the Narberth Theatre. It will be seen-heard next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, accompanying the feature film. The new feature-series, of which the second number, "Irish Fantasy," was presented this week, has been recorded by famous vocal and instrumental artists, accompanied by a seventy-piece symphony orchestra directed by Dr. Hugo Riesenfeld.

This week-end the Narberth's feature is "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland," funny comedy starring Charles Murray and George Sidney.

George Arliss, famous stage star, whose screen version of "Disraeli" won considerable acclaim, is to be seen-heard in the "talkie" version of another great play, "The Green Goddess," at the Narberth Theatre next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday.

On Thursday Harry Green, stage comedian, will say "Yeah, sure—soitenly!" and instruct in the intricacies of card games, in his comedy, "The Kibitzer." The feature Friday and Saturday will be "The Sky Hawk," a story of Zeppelin and airplane raids during the World War.

To Wed Next Saturday

The marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Dold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Porter Dold, of Shady Lane, Narberth, and Mr. Robert Melville Patten, son of Captain and Mrs. Fred C. Patten, of Woodside Avenue, Narberth, will take place on Saturday afternoon, June 14, at 4 o'clock in St. John's Church, Bala-Cynwyd.

New Players Signed Up on Narberth Club

Due to minor injuries sustained in last Saturday's game, Mickey Burns, pride of the Narberth catching staff, will be called from the diamond for possibly four weeks, according to the doctor's orders. Ray Young will fill in behind the plate.

Several new players have been signed up for the season by Manager Davis and a more formidable team is expected to go afield in next week's game on a winning campaign and atone for the past three defeats of the year. Joe McEntee, former captain of the Holy Cross nine, and Pep Young, of the Penn A. C., were the first to be added to the local club for services at second base. Walter Whelan is also expected to replace Kearney at shortstop and Walter Masters, who has won a great name in the college ranks, will report in the role of pitcher after the middle of June. There have been rumors that Masters will be acquired by the Philadelphia Athletics after graduation from the University of Pennsylvania in 1931.

My Garden

I garden, I have learned through extensive experience, almost solely for pleasure. Originally it was my intention to provide fruits and vegetables bounteously for the dinner table, but years of toil have impressed upon my mind the fact that Ceres is a snare and a delusion. For the past several seasons my strawberry patch has showed an annual yield of four bushels—one pint of berries and the rest finely assorted weeds. Even this would not have seriously disappointed me had not that solitary luscious pint shown unmistakable indicia of the ravages of a large family of hungry robins. The rest of my garden is equally productive.

Yet I enjoy working in my garden. There are other considerations in addition to the net yield. I have acquired a fine coat of tan, and an excellent reputation as a husband. There is not a wife in our suburban territory, with the possible exception of my own good lady, who does not hold me up to her friends and relatives, especially the latter, as an example of rectitude and industry. Gardening endows me with a peculiarly philosophical state of mind. This is an attribute of all those who are close to the soil. We who labor in sun and wind and rain are a curiously complacent race of men. We have seen so many hours of back-breaking labor go to naught that we have learned not to fret and grow frantic about such trivialities as a decrease in salary or the loss of a contract.

We have learned to appreciate the gifts of the gods. Victories in field and garden are the greatest of these. The high spot of my life was the pansy that blossomed last summer. I remember nothing of my natal day; of course, I was pretty young. I have not a single dim recollection of the day when I went, or was led, to the altar. But the day my pansy bloomed! Ah, every detail of that delightful day stands forth in my memory as painted with the master touch of a divine painter. The clear sky, the songs of birds, my ecstatic discovery of the beautiful bloom, my wife's surprise, my own excitement, the cool breeze, the astonishment of the neighbors, ah, it is as if my pansy had bloomed only a moment ago. Never had there been such a pansy before. Pansies there had been in neighboring gardens, but they were nothing compared with this pansy which was mine. Pansy Day shall always be the most important of my anniversaries. For six consecutive years previously all my pansies had grown to be cucumbers, and spinach, and radishes. At last I had grown a pansy. Small wonder that I should rejoice and be glad.

One correspondent, masculine or feminine, answering to the name of Dean Bishop. I personally am of the opinion that my open challenge to engage the estimable Dean in a public demonstration to determine our respective osculatory prowess forced him, or her, into seclusion. Honora, however (Honora is the girl-friend I go walking with when Jasmine is at the missionary meeting) thinks that Dean Bishop is a visionary character created in an off-moment by the previous incumbent of this columnar job. Any definite information will be appreciated.

Regarding Names.

Those who have expressed the opinion that Littlekiss is a pseudonym rather than a real cognomen (I wish it were merely a pseudonym. Really you'd be surprised how many people make alleged jokes about my name), will be interested to learn of the recent appearance of a Mr. Kiss at court. This was reported in the papers of the nearby metropolis. It seems that Mr. Kiss's case was called by an attendant, and some of the ladies present imagined that the attendant was asking for a favor of them rather than calling a man's name. Anyway, there was quite a bit of confusion; the papers do not quite make it clear whether the women ran to the attendant or away from him. When I get time I shall investigate the origin of Mr. Kiss'

Worth Doing Again

The extraordinarily nice party at the Merion Tribute House last week under the auspices of the Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion affords evidence that the sentiment of the community is closely linked with the spirit and purpose of the service organization.

It would be difficult to know how the occasion could have been improved upon, as the entire procedure was in excellent taste and the cordial comradry of the numerous company was impressive to all observers.

It is said that the financial returns are beyond all expectations, but equally important, if not more so, was the distinct stride which the Legion made in advancing its already splendid repute in Narberth.

Our Town salutes Commander Cooke, Chairman Collins and all who had to do with the notable evening, not overlooking the loyal aid of The Spectator, whose efforts were responsible in large measure for the success of the affair, but who is too modest to describe his own part in the doings.

Uses of an Education

What will the thousands of graduates in the nation do with the so-called educations they are supposed to have completed this Spring? How will this wealth of learning improve the world or their individual usefulness in it?

Many of these boys and girls believe that their educations are complete and that the world will roll up to them from now on. Their commencement will begin a period of lifelong disillusionment unless they quickly discover that education is a continuous performance from the cradle to the grave.

Some of them will profit by the advantages that have been offered to them by taxpayers, school boards, school committees, tireless instructors and proud parents. The proper fruit of the tree of knowledge is that of service to humanity, and we have no other gauge by which we may measure the worth of a man or the value of his training.

Unwelcome Summer Visitors

As the time of the summer exodus approaches when hundreds of Main Line students and many residents seek cooler and more lively places in which to spend their vacations, there also nears the approach of many visitors to the Main Line, probably more this season than ever before—and of a most unwelcome type. Reference is made to the Japanese beetle.

This pest probably will make its appearance in the city during the coming week and by the end of the month will have migrated in increasing numbers to this fair section. Accordingly property owners are warned by Federal Government entomologists to spray early and to take other precautions to keep the infestation to a minimum.

Loren C. Smith, principal entomologist of the U. S. Japanese Beetle Laboratories at Moorestown, N. J., issues the following statement:

"It is impossible to determine how serious the beetle may become this year. But we do know that there will be enough beetles to warrant every property owner spraying his fruit, shade and ornamental trees, if he wishes to protect the foliage from injury. While in some sections we do not expect the beetles to be any more numerous than in other years, yet the property owners must not neglect to spray their plants.

"The beetle infestation will be heavier in some localities than in others, depending upon the infestation last season. But if the property owners in this territory want to protect their trees and ornamentals from injury they should cover the foliage with the sprays that have been found satisfactory by the experts here at the laboratory. Very few changes are being made in the spraying recommendation for 1930. The feeding periods of the beetles will be from June 25 to August 30.

A mother in Mexico has thirty-seven children. It is too terrible to think what might happen should they all aspire to become President.

of land consisting of 17 733/1000 acres situated in Lower Merion Township, abutting on Centennial Road, a public highway leading from the Conshohocken State Road to Mary Waters Ford Road. On said tract is maintained a public dump and buildings in which explosives are stored.

2. Plaintiff Percival Roberts, Jr., is the owner of a tract of land comprising 571 acres situated in Lower Merion Township to the west and northwest of the above described property of said township. Said plaintiff's dwelling house is situated on a hill approximately one-half mile from said township's buildings.

3. Plaintiff Guy Croyle is the owner of a tract of land comprising fifty-two acres situated in Lower Merion Township to the north of said township's property and separated from it by Centennial Road. Plaintiff's dwelling house is situated approximately 900 feet from said township's buildings.

4. To the southwest of said township's tract is a thickly populated area known as Ashland Heights. The Ashland Public School is situated on a high hill approximately one-quarter of a mile from said township's buildings.

5. On the northwest portion of said township tract are two buildings 200 feet apart situated at the foot of a hill 400 feet from said township's dump and a like distance from Centennial Road.

One of said buildings is a loosely constructed wooden frame structure, the rear of which is raised from the ground and rests on wooden supports. Said building is approximately 10 feet high, 8 feet deep and 10 feet wide and is used for the storage of black powder and other explosives and is of a capacity of approximately 4000 pounds.

The other of said buildings is a cement structure, the roof of which is frame covered with cement. Said building is approximately nine feet high, eleven feet deep and nineteen feet wide and is used for the storage of dynamite and is of a capacity of 25,000 pounds.

6. The land surrounding said powder magazines and extending to the township dump is heavily wooded and covered with underbrush.

7. Said buildings have been leased by the township to the defendant Atlas Powder Company for the specific and exclusive purpose as places for the storage of powder and other explosives.

Defendant Atlas Powder Company and its agent are maintaining said powder magazines without license in violation of the Township Ordinance approved by the Board of Commissioners May 17, 1903.

8. Centennial Road is a travelled public highway. In the vicinity of the buildings there is only one dilapidated sign giving notice of the contents of the buildings. The buildings are not fenced off, nor is any watchmen in attendance.

9. Inflammable material deposited on the township dump causes it to be in a state of continual conflagration, so as to constitute a constant fire menace to the powder magazines.

10. By the reason of the faulty construction of said buildings, the absence of any safeguards, the proximity of the burning dump and the underbrush, the storage of explosives in said buildings constitutes a constant menace of an explosion which would endanger the lives and property of the plaintiffs and other residents of the community.

Wherefore plaintiffs pray that this Honorable Court declare preliminarily until final hearing and finally thereafter

1. That the maintenance of said buildings by the defendants constitutes a nuisance.

2. That said defendants move forthwith the explosives now stored in said structures.

3. That said defendants be restrained from using either of said buildings in the future for the storage of explosives.

4. Such other and further relief as the nature of the case may require and the Court may deem proper.

Music Talk Feature of Chamber Dinner

The common sense of music was explained to the diners at the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce banquet last Wednesday night by Sigmund Spaeth, noted musical critic and lecturer.

Mr. Spaeth explained the structure of simple musical melody, tracing a number of popular tunes to their harmonic ancestry. In some cases the tracing led back through the classics, whose melodies are frequently borrowed by modern writers.

The descending two-note theme found in the call of the European cuckoo was given as the first example of simple tone structure. At the piano the speaker used this theme in its relation to many well-known tunes, from the Japanese Sandman to Beehoven's Pastoral Symphony. Combined with the call of the Bob White he built the theme of another popular song.

Using three consecutive notes he composed a waltz; the four-note theme was shown to be the basis of the clock melody of the Westminster Chimes, familiar to anyone owning a grandfather's clock or living within hearing of the Merion Title and Trust Company. "How Dry I Am" has its inception in this sequence. The "Merry Widow" waltz is another.

The five-note theme is the basis of much folk music. The song "Always" is built of this sequence many times repeated, plus the two-note cuckoo melody.

Mr. Spaeth then traced at the piano the ancestry of a number of popular tunes. "Maytime" was borrowed from a Chopin Nocturne; "The Song of Love," from "Blossom Time," had its origin in the Unfinished Symphony of Shubert.

As a conclusion to the talk, the speaker used the famous example of "Yes, We Have No Bananas," showing that this thrice familiar ditty of a few years ago could boast of four illustrious ancestors, as follows: The Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah," "Bring Back My Bonny to Me," "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls" from the Bohemian Girl and "Seeing Nellie Home." Mr. Spaeth played the modern resultant hash and sang the original words of each theme, with startling results.

Policies Formulated by Ardmore Community Coucil

At the regular monthly meeting of the Ardmore Community Council held Friday night, May 16, in "The Den" of the Ardmore Title & Trust Company, the following policy was unanimously agreed upon:

1. When three-fourths of the organizations represented on the Council advise that their respective bodies have definitely acted favorably upon any motion or resolution adopted by the Council, the Council may and should follow through and present such findings to the proper authorities, putting forth every effort to carry out the expressed wishes of the organization comprising the Council.

2. In presenting matters to the authorities concerned, the Council must declare the organizations which may be against the proposal as well as those which may have voted in favor thereof.

Among the items taken up at the meeting were short talks by some of the representatives on the activities engaged in by their respective organizations. These talks will continue until each representative has had an opportunity to relate what his or her organization is doing in the community life picture.

Those who spoke briefly were Dr. B. K. Wilbur, representing the Board of Health; Frank Boyd, representing the Merion Fire Co.; Mrs. W. L. Azpell, representing the American Legion Auxiliary, and Miss Elizabeth Ransley, representing the D. A. R.

It was announced that the next meeting of the Council will be held on Friday evening, June 20, at 6 o'clock dinner in "The Den" of the Ardmore Title & Trust Company.

Census figures for neighboring townships in Delaware County show large gains in population. Haverford Township, according to the preliminary 1930 census figures, numbers 21,613, which represents an increase of 226 per. cent. since 1920. Radnor Township contains 12,332 souls, wit an increase of 51 per cent.; the largest increase in the Philadelphia Suburbs or perhaps in the East, came in Upper Darby Township which now numbers 46,594, the increase amounting to 420 per cent. A large amount of this increase is attributed to the development of the 69th Street-Garret road section.

Narberth Divides in Memorial Twin Bill

Down St. Philips in Morning, and Out-Hit, But Bow to Dunkirk in P. M.

GRAHAM BROS. PITCH

By John Uberti

Over 1000 Narberth rooters donned winter garb to brave the bleak and biting winds that swept over the Narberth Ball Park and saw a pair of hard-played contests on Memorial Day from which the Borough Club emerged victor in the morning fuss but fell beneath the bastonading of a great club in the matinee performance. St. Philips, champions of the North Philadelphia Church League, bowed in the morning fray, 6-5, while Dunkirk came out of their cellar position in the Main Line League by whipping the Davismen six runs to two.

The great crowd, which turned out to witness the Memorial Day festivities, began to disperse early in the morning combat until but a handful of fans remained to see the termination of the game. Dark, menacing clouds which hovered over the diamond in the afternoon, sent a good many of the fans on their way, spoiling a gala day of interesting baseball.

George Graham and his more eminent brother, Howard, were Manager Davis' selections for mound duty in this twin bill, the former stopping the St. Philips bats in the first game while the latter suffered his second straight defeat of the season in the following slugfest.

Vernie Fleck, that grand old man of baseball, was Narberth's unrivalved performer against St. Philips when he hit Atkinson four consecutive times in as many times at bat until the last inning when he lofted to the infield for a fine percentage of .800. Vernie was the main figure throughout this contest, especially in the fourth when he started his team on a wild scoring spree after trailing the foeman since the first inning. Fleck slapped a double into right field in the first and third frames and scored two pals in the fourth by virtue of his well-timed and well-placed bingle into his favorite space in right. Another lone base blow in the last inning brought his percentage to its final standing. Vernie's batting in the second game was also unequalled, assaulting McCauley three times out of five times at bat for a .600 mark.

Rubincan, another veteran of Narberth baseball, who played for the Champions years back, followed very close in Vernie's footsteps by equalling his batting feat but lacking the punch and scoring ability of Mr. Fleck. The Rube also batted for .800 a triple in the second, but after which he was mowed down on the lanes, and three unprolific hits in the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Mickey Burns now leads the Narberth batsmen with an average of .666, while Fleck follows with .600. Neibler, who played only one game with the Borough nine, shows a percentage of .500, which is not as commendable as Curwin's .428, which was computed from six hits out of fourteen times at bat.

St. Philips came to Narberth with an enviable record of thirteen victories out of sixteen games, but saw their winning streak severed by the potency of pachyderm bats. They gave George Graham a good deal of trouble for a while when they bunched three hits at the start for two runs but fell back in the fourth when the Davismen splashed hits all over the diamond for five runs. Rubincan started it all by singling to the right wing, and Thomas was motioned to first by the umpire when Pitcher Atkinson balked. Young's one-base hit filled the pathways and the Rube scored while Hopf was throwing out Graham at first. Powell was also expunged, Atkinson to Williams, and Curwin singled to left to score Young. Humphreys also earned a bingle and the latter pair dashed over the plate on Fleck's deep single. Martin was thrown out, Atkinson to Williams.

Thomas singled in the fifth and scored soon after on Powell's infield blow, raising the score to 6-0. However, the Quaker City nine assembled five hits in the sixth and eighth to elevate their scoring to five runs. They threatened to tie the mark in the last inning, but Graham tightened up considerably after allowing two men to get on and retired the side with one hit. George Graham struck out seven men in this game but also showed his weakness at times, allowing six men to walk. Atkinson struck out two and walked one.

Dunkirk Game

Dunkirk was Narberth's foe in the second game to whom they dropped an important league game, although they outhit the visitors twelve to nine. Dunkirk opened on the Davismen with two in the second frame, and the Boroughites could do nothing until the fourth when they evened the situation. Rubincan gained admittance to first by virtue of Sullivan's blunder, and Wally Heckle doubled deep into right field. Thomas blanked and Rubincan counted off Graham's sacrifice fly. Heckle started for the pentagon as Burns whipped a thorny grounder to Sullivan who was charged with another transgression. Curwin fell on strikes after which Narberth never crossed the plate the rest of the game.

The fifth inning saw the Dunkirk Club in a hitting mood, gathering six hits in the four innings which ensued. After McCauley struck out, Kiker hit one past second, but was immediately run down at the hot box when forced by Cullen. Sullivan came to bat and passed a called ball, when Cullen started for the keystone on an attempted steal, Burns threw to second, not realizing that the base was left unguarded by attendants who were not warned of the assist. Cullen dashed all the way around the bases for a run. Three hits netted the enemy as many runs in the last two innings of the game.

Narberth's defeat at the hands of Dunkirk was largely due to the fact that the Davismen lost the old punch of swatting after placing men on the bags. This is shown by the fact that the Champions had twelve men left stranded on the bases while Dunkirk took access to each hit and left only seven players on the lanes.

Patten is well known along the Main Line having been solo violinist with the Main Line Orchestra since he was twelve years of age.

Temperatures Below Normal

A thermometer reading of forty degrees on Sunday, June 1, the lowest on record for that date, was immediately followed by a temperature of 86 degrees on Monday, the 2d, indicating the extreme variability of weather conditions on the Main Line. Six days of the week of May 27 to June 2 showed temperatures averaging about 10 degrees below normal.

"Time Out"

By Tommy Macklin

Lower Merion High School finished the year's athletic program this week with three major championships in the suburban area safely shelved in the plate-glass cabinet. That fact, however, is only part of the story. The Maroon and White also have three other championships for the season in the important subjects. Coach Anderson's basketball team, you remember, won the District 1 championship and the Eastern Regional championship in the ides of March. Albert Adam's track team also won the District 1 championships this spring to complete an even half dozen flags for the Merionites to hoist to the top of the athletic flagpole.

In baseball the Maroon did not do so well. Coach Warren Cocklin's boys played good ball, and should have won more games, but part of their sad story lies in the fact that Captain Henry Gane was out of several games with a broken finger, and young Emmett Wynn, second baseman extraordinary, could not take part in the final four games because of a broken thumb.

There is no doubt but that the ball team would have been higher than fourth in the percentage tables if these two fiery players could have been available for all of the games.

Joey McCahan, one time catcher for the Lower Merion baseball squad, has been a mainstay for the Temple University team this spring. Joey finishes the season with a batting average well above the three hundred mark. He has two home runs to his credit, and has pounded out several two-baggers for the Owl outfit.

Eddie Kobilis, ace of the Villanova hurling staff, turned back the Temple players with a measly four hits last Saturday afternoon at Villanova College. Joe McCahan's double and Ford's triple were the only damaging basehits made by the Owl clan. Kobilis not only hurled grand ball, but he crashed out a double and a single to account for three of his team's runs.

Brud Kohlhas, one of Ardmore's representatives at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, broke the pole vault record for the third time as a middie last week. Kohlhas' first assault against the dignity of the institution came in his plebe year when he shattered the beginner's record of 11 feet. Two weeks ago Brud broke the varsity record with a lift of 12 feet 9 inches, and followed this with a leap of 13 feet against Notre Dame last Saturday.

Mike Catanzaro and Kenneth Huxley make up a wonderful two-man team for the Norristown High School track coach. Both of these boys are good in the dashes and Catanzaro is a fine broad jumper.

The individual performances of these two won the Inter-scholastics at Norristown last Friday for the hosts.

Lower Merion lost the meet by two points, and they might have won had two of Adam's track stars not been absent from the party. This is the second time this season that Norristown has come out ahead of the Maroon in the big meets. The latter, however, was too strong for them all in the championships, which is the big track event of the year.

Penn Charter took the Inter-Academic league championships last week by a good margin. Haverford School, champions for the past two years, saw their chances fade in the first event of the day, when Captain Bill Watt pulled a tendon in the hundred yard dash heats. Watt was placed in five events for the day and had to withdraw from them all. He is an exceptional track man, and is usually good for about twenty points a meet.

Andy McCrudden took up the burden on his broad shoulders and did the best he could for his school. He was high scorer of the meet with thirteen points. With Watt to lead, Haverford would probably have repeated.

The Southern Colleges have called a halt until September, and the local collegiates are back home from the hot and sunny southland. The group from the University of Alabama blew in last week and now the boys from Duke University are home for the holidays. Jimmy Faulk, Bud Miller, Doug. Flemming and the others are here in time to see the final ball game of the season between the Maroon and Haverford High.

P. R. T. Surrenders Overbrook 69th St. Bus Franchise

After holding the franchise for nearly four years, the P. R. T. on May 28, gave up the exclusive right to operate the proposed bus route "R" between Overbrook railroad station and Sixty-ninth Street Terminal, at a hearing before Commissioner James S. Benn, of the Public Service Commission, in City Hall.

Citizens of Overbrook-Hills-in-Merion, Penn-Wynne and other communities on the proposed route attended the hearing, at which the commission expected the P. R. T. to explain the delay in operating the line.

"The commission desires to see adequate service given to these residents," Mr. Benn stated.

When the transit company's franchise was withdrawn, A. Merritt Taylor, president of the Aronimink Transportation Company, asked that his company be permitted to operate the proposed route. Application for the franchise also was made by Vincent Mariand, Narberth.

John S. Oler, Ardmore; Rev. Daniel Coonahan, Grant Wright, of Overbrook-Hills-in-Merion Civic Association, and James S. Hare appeared for various associations and communities.

Mr. Taylor said his engineers will complete a traffic study of the district within a few days and indicated that application for the franchise will be made immediately.

We Stand Corrected

To the Editor of Our Town:

In your issue of Friday, May 30, I notice the following statement:

"The last figures to be received were those for the second district which numbered 2091."

This statement is incorrect. The returns for the second district came in promptly and were returned quite a long time ago, in fact, before May 1.

The First ward was not received until Sunday night, May 25, and for that reason neither the First ward nor the total population of Narberth could be announced until Monday, May 26.

MONROE H. ANDERS,
Supervisor of Census, Twenty-second District, Pennsylvania.

Editor's Note—The above correction is perfectly in order. The figures for the Second district were published in the issue of May 9 and we can't figure out yet why we said they were the last to come in.

WHAT ABOUT SAND-BOXES?
When you buy a sand-box, consider whether it possesses both attractiveness and durability.
Some boxes, with cunning artistry, attract the eye, but will collapse after a few months of hard wear by vigorous young playfellows. Such a purchase would be poor economy.
A sand-box such as we have been selling for the past four years will be a pleasing addition to any garden, with its symmetrical lines and its bright green paint. It will also be a permanent addition for the three or four years which comprise the age of sand-box-lure for children, because of its sturdy, durable construction.
To find such a combination of good qualities priced as low as $10.00 and to know that the box is 4 foot square, raised six inches from the ground, with a ledge around for a seat,—well, as a three-year investment, we should say, "well worth it." White seashore sand is $1.00 a bag,—(2 bags will do).

"Time Out"

By Tommy Macklin

Lower Merion High School finished the year's athletic program this week with three major championships in the suburban area safely shelved in the plate-glass cabinet. That fact, however, is only part of the story. The Maroon and White also have three other championships for the season in the important subjects. Coach Anderson's basketball team, you remember, won the District 1 championship and the Eastern Regional championship in the ides of March. Albert Adam's track team also won the District 1 championships this spring to complete an even half dozen flags for the Merionites to hoist to the top of the athletic flagpole.

In baseball the Maroon did not do so well. Coach Warren Cocklin's boys played good ball, and should have won more games, but part of their sad story lies in the fact that Captain Henry Gane was out of several games with a broken finger, and young Emmett Wynn, second baseman extraordinary, could not take part in the final four games because of a broken thumb.

There is no doubt but that the ball team would have been higher than fourth in the percentage tables if these two fiery players could have been available for all of the games.

Joey McCahan, one time catcher for the Lower Merion baseball squad, has been a mainstay for the Temple University team this spring. Joey finishes the season with a batting average well above the three hundred mark. He has two home runs to his credit, and has pounded out several two-baggers for the Owl outfit.

Eddie Kobilis, ace of the Villanova hurling staff, turned back the Temple players with a measly four hits last Saturday afternoon at Villanova College. Joe McCahan's double and Ford's triple were the only damaging baseblits made by the Owl clan. Kobilis not only hurled grand ball, but he crashed out a double and a single to account for three of his team's runs.

Brud Kohlhas, one of Ardmore's representatives at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, broke the pole vault record for the third time as a middie last week. Kohlhas' first assault against the dignity of the institution came in his plebe year when he shattered the beginner's record of 11 feet. Two weeks ago Brud broke the varsity record with a lift of 12 feet 9 inches, and followed this with a leap of 13 feet against Notre Dame last Saturday.

A June Graduate

Miss Hope Burlingame, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Burlingame, of Bryn Mawr Avenue, Bryn Mawr, who graduated from the Holton Arms School, Washington, D. C., on Monday, June 2.

Journey to Poconos, One of Pennsylvania's Most Beautiful Scenic Regions, Mapped by Auto Club

One of Pennsylvania's most alluring scenic regions, especially in springtime, is the Poconos.

To this treasure trove of enchantment for the nature lover the Keystone Automobile Club has mapped a journey that will prove a most delightful outing either for a Sunday drive or a week-end tour.

"Lovely vistas open in every direction from the top of Mt. Pocono and in springtime the pineclad hillsides form an attractive picture," says Joseph Murphy, manager of the Ardmore branch of the club.

"Mountain laurel, rhododendron and other gaily-tinted wild flowers make this section a thing of beauty long to be remembered by the tourist. Splendid fishing and hunting are found here and this popular summer vacation haunt has developed into an all-the-year-round resort."

From Ardmore the tour leads north through Bridgeport, where the Schuylkill River is crossed to Norristown. National route 122 is used through Centre Square and Montgomeryville to Doylestown. Turning left into the Lackawanna trail, marked as national route 611, the travelers proceed through rolling farmland to Kintnersville and Easton.

As the main highway through Bangor and the Delaware Water Gap to Stroudsburg is closed because of road repairs, the club suggests that the attractive route through Wind Gap, Saylorsburg and Bartonsville be followed to Mt. Pocono. Mountains and lakes and innumerable streams are on the edge of the town. The early history of this delightful section of Monroe County, through which the Lackawanna trail passes, teems with legends of the redmen. Before the coming of white settlers in 1725, the Poconos were the scene of tribal councils. The Indians called the section "Minisink." It was through Monroe County that terrified survivors of the dreadful Wyoming massacre made their way and it was over these same trails that General Sullivan marched his army to avenge the slaughter of the whites.

Northward through Analomink a delightful side trip can be made to a region that is a paradise for hunters and fishermen. The Broadhead, the Paradise and many other trout streams are close by. Following the Lackawanna trail, marked as national route 611, the tour leads northward through Tannersville, Scotrun and Swiftwater to Mt. Pocono. From this central point another attractive side trip leads east over State route 615 to Paradise Valley. Westward State route 115 winds through Pocono Summit, Stillwaters, Naomi Piner to Pocono Lake and Blakeslee.

Mt. Pocono, rising 1769 feet above sea level, is the highest point in this section. The air is consequently pure, dry and invigorating and no other region surpasses this section for charm of scenery. In May the tree-clad hills are also covered with spring flowers that adds much to its attractiveness.

Seek 'Walks For Lancaster Avenue

Extend 'Thru-Traffic' Streets; Condemn Weed-grown Lots.

Lower Merion's Township Commission at its May meeting, held Wednesday evening in Ardmore, passed the folowing resolutions and ordinances:

Resolved to ask the State Highway Department for authority to order property owners to set sidewalks on both sides of Lancaster Pike, from Church Road, Ardmore, to City Line, through Wynnewood and Merion.

Fixed "stop" signs for the police to enforce, for intersections of these "through traffic" streets: Merion Road between Montgomery Pike and City Line; Haverford Avenue from Montgomery Pike to Narberth Avenue, and Church Road between Lancaster and Montgomery Pikes.

Gave the Lower Merion Board of Health, in Ordinance No. 355, power to decide when the growth and accumulation of weeds, tall grass and obnoxious vegetation on premises shall be considered detrimental to the public health. And provided that property owners shall be given warning, when deemed necessary, to clear this growth, and in case of failure to do so, be required to pay the township for its expenses in clearing the premises, in addition to paying a fine of $10 to $15 for the first offense, and $15 to $50 for subsequent ones.

Provided, in Ordinance 354, for construction of branch service sewers on Grenox, Hillside and Indian Creek Roads, Wynnewood, and Old Lancaster Road, Bala-Cynwyd.

Provided, in Ordinances 356-7-8, for taking over by the township of Orchard Road, Merion, and for setting curbs on both sides of Orchard Road, Cherry Bend and Brookway, all in Merion.

Authorized Treasurer Peter C. Hess to collect 1930 taxes for the township, on a valuation of $81,222,480, at 12 mills—$974,669.76. Approved recommendation by Finance Committee Chairman Frank H. Mancill for floating a temporary loan of $100,000 for 90 days or more, until tax payments commence flowing into the treasury.

County Increase 66,207; Population Is 265,517

Announcement yesterday that Montgomery County has a population of 265,517 was made by Census Supervisor Monroe Anders, of Ardmore. This is a gain in population since 1920 of 66,207. The former figure was 199,310. This is slightly over 33 per cent., or one-third, increase. The largest growth of population is shown in the Main Line, Old York Road and North Penn sections, with Norristown showing the smallest increase.

Agriculture in the county is rapidly diminishing, chiefly because of realty developments. There are now 2653 farms as compared with 4840 in 1920 and 5860 in 1910.

Montgomery is now in the class of third-class counties having a population between 250,000 and 800,000. Other counties in this class are Lackawanna, Luzerne and Westmoreland.

Dangers of Flying Kites Made With Wire or Near Electric Poles Stressed by Utility Company

Kite flying time has arrived.

Realizing that thousands of boys in Philadelphia and the suburban listricts are engaged, at this time of year, in the popular Ben Franklin sport, the Philadelphia Electric Company has issued a warning against the use, by the boys, of wire in flying kites. School supervisors and teachers have been requested to co-operate with the company in the elimination of danger in kite flying.

The company has sent the following letter to school authorities:

"We ask your co-operation in bringing to the attention of the boys in your school the hazards involved in the use of any kind of wire or metallic strings in the flying of kites. There are three particular hazards in kite flying which can be largely overcome by co-operation and supervision of schools and parents. The first is the flying of kites near electric wires, the second the use of wire, either in the strings or in the construction of the kites, and the third is the climbing of electric light poles to rescue a kite entangled in the wires.

"Last year, marathon kite flying was very popular with boys in all sections of the country and it promises to be even more popular than ever this year. Where these are held, it is essential that the boys select flying fields which are some distance from electric light wires so there will be no possible chance of the kite striking electric light wires.

"If the boys can be taught to fly their kites well away from these electric lines, to use neither wire strings nor any other metal in the construction or operation of the kite, to be sure also that the string is kept dry and to refrain from any effort to rescue kites caught in aerial lines by climbing poles, kite flying will be as safe as it can possibly be made.

"We also direct your attention to the following quotation from the Hand Book for boys, published by the Boy Scouts of America:

"Kite flying is a fascinating sport, but it has its particular perils. Never use a wire string in flying, since contact with an overhead charged wire might mean death or a serious accident. Fly the kite preferably in an open field, far from overhead wires. Speaking of wires in general, report broken ones to the police at once—one can never tell how dangerous they are—avoid handling wires hanging from trees or poles and do not climb such objects, if they carry wires."

attack with the hickory and scored in numbers of three in almost every session of the game.

Gardner's effectiveness on the hill was distinctly displayed to the fans in that he caused four local players to surrender on strikes, walked only one man, and pitched with such speed and ability that merely eight men reached base, an aggregate number of five having been left on at the termination of innings. The other three came home with the bacon.

Following the usual plan of combat, the Davismen started the scoring at the start by sending in two runs. Curwin was thrown out, Reid to Dallard, but Heckle came through with a violent double to the street in left, Humphreys followed with a bingle to score Heckle and Babb took advantage of Lackey's miscue to gain first.

Babb moved up a base on Rubincan's sacrifice hit and Martin raised a skyrocket into rightfield.

Graham held Hilldale hitless for two innings and then came the storm in the following session when the visitors put together three hits, and, aided by a palpable error which allowed an unearned run to come in, they amassed four runs. However, they could only count once in the subsequent inning when, having jammed the lanes, Howard buckled down to earnest business, and put the team away in order.

Narberth found the disc again in the fifth when they shipped a man over for the third run, but after that they never put a man on base. Curwin hit briskly to left field for two bases and moved over one on Heckle's sacrifice, Mackey to Dallar. Humphreys was jilted of a safety when Lackey intercepted his swift bastonade and George Babb made two bases from his smash to Windsor Avenue, putting Curwin over the pentagon for the last counter of the contest.

Lewis, of the visiting club, was the one and only luminary object of the whole game. In his first four trips to the plate he found Graham easy for a single each time, but succumbed to Durbin's anointed ball in the ninth.

George Babb's double and single was the best performance for Narberth.

Since Narberth began their campaign with Hilldale in 1928 when they dropped every game played with them, the Borough bunch have gradually been making a more auspicious showing in that they divided with the ebon forces in 1929 and lost only their first of a scheduled campaign for the present year.

Narberth Librarian Elected District Chairman

At the meeting of the librairians of the Philadelphia District held at the Jenkintown Library, on May 21, 1930, Miss Mary B. Church was elected district chairman for the coming year. Though one of the younger libraries in the district, the Narberth Community Library has won a considerable degree of respect for itself. Evidently, its librarian has done the same.

Few taxpayers know of the work of the State library, especially that of the extension department, in helping the growth of library service through advice and encouragement to small libraries. One of its most useful activities consists in the fostering of the district meetings, where librarians who either cannot attend State or national conventions, or do not find the discussions at such larger gatherings helpful, may get together at regular intervals to consider their own peculiar problems. The Philadelphia district includes Chester, Delaware, Montgomery and Philadelphia counties. The Narberth library makes a practice of sending both its librarians to every meeting.

Narberth Juniors Trounce West Park

The Narberth Juniors defeated West Park last Thursday night to the tune of 6-3. Powell's outstanding fielding and hitting thrilled the large gathering. Bob Odiorne, taking the mound for the first time this season for the Juniors, chucked first-class ball, holding the visitors to eight well-scattered hits. The fielding of Charles Heckel, the newly-elected captain of the nine, also helped to spell defeat for West Park.

Tuesday night, June 10, the Juniors play Waco, an old rival, at home. Hail, they're coming, they're coming, the Philadelphia Bobbies, an all-star girls' nine. Don't forget the date with the Bobbies on Thursday, June 12.

Boro Playgrounds to Open on July 7

ground. Parents with small children who live in the vicinity of the school are urged to send them to the school playground in preference to the community.

On Mondays, besides the special events, soccer games and track and field activities will hold sway. Included in track and field are novelty races, running high and broad jump, shot put and discus. Other games for this summer include quoits, volley ball, lawn crocquet, paddle tennis, basketball and golf. Basketball is an added feature this year. There will be outdoor posts and nets, and many lively games are anticipated.

There will be two baseball leagues, an intermediate league, including boys from 12 to 16 years, and a junior league with boys from 8 to 11 years. The intermediate games will be played on Tuesday and Thursday at 2 P. M. while the junior league will play on the same days at 10:30 A. M.

Weekly assemblies will be held every Wednesday at 1:30 P. M. At this time special announcements will be made and the children will be entertained by members of their own group doing stunts, dancing, magic tricks, harmonica and ukelele clubs, etc. Following the assemblies, the weekly stunt clubs are held. Separate clubs are organized for boys and girls; the requirement for admission is the successful performance of a few elementary stunts. The performing of stunts proved very popular last summer; as a result many new stunts will be added.

Two corps of junior police (one corps at each playground) will be inaugurated this year. They will be sworn in by Captain C. P. Smith, of the Lower Merion Police Department, on the opening day of the playgrounds. They will be chosen by the playground director, and will wear insignia to designate their office. Duties will include:

1. Patrolling the playground to which they belong to see that the rules of the playground are carried out.
2. Taking care of all equipment on the grounds.
3. Assisting in tournaments and special activities.

Those who wish to join the "Knot Hole Club" must sign up with a junior policeman, during the first week of the playgrounds and secure his membership pin. Last year over a hundred members were taken into Shibe Park by residents of Narberth to see the Athletics play Boston. A similar treat will be given to those who qualify for membership this summer. Membership depends on:

1. Attendance at the playground.
2. Conduct and sportsmanship.
3. Interest shown in playground activities.

Handwork activities for this summer will include:

1. Aeroplane building (member P. M. A. A.).
2. Soap modeling.
3. Making stuffed dolls.
4. Raffia and reed weaving.
5. Lantern making.
6. Yarn projects.
7. Bead stringing.
8. Toy cutting.

For the smaller children there will be O'Leary, jackstones, hopscotch, soap bubble contest, original doll contest, sand box modeling, handwork activities, story telling and small children's games.

Of interest to many will be this announcement of an adult tennis tournament to be conducted in August, including men's singles, women's singles, mixed doubles. Entries must be in not later than Tuesday, August 12, as the draw will be made on this date, and play will begin Friday, August 15. Leave your name at the Our Town Office or with Miss Mary Bach or Mr. Weatherall at the Community Playground. The list of names will be published in this paper Friday, August 15, and will also be posted on the Community Playground.

NOTE—Those competing will have precedence over all others during tournament play.

The following is the schedule for the special activities (cut this out for reference):

July 7—Installation of junior police corps.
July 10—Organizing of junior and intermediate baseball leagues.
July 11—Quoit tournament.
July 14—Jackstone tournament.
July 18—Paddle tennis tournament.
July 21—Hopscotch tournament.
July 25—Volley ball tournament.
July 28—Soap bubble contest.
August 4—Lawn crocquet tournament.

August 20—Lantern fete.
August 22—Playground tennis tournament opens.

Errors Give Paoli Victory Over Narberth

Harvey Humphreys' two overthrows to first and Bob Martin's pair of fumbles at the initial base had nothing on Kearney's errors which actually opened the way to Paoli's unexpected rally in the eighth. Graham scaled the tee in the finale, but failed to check the foemen's pace, who nicked him for two hits and two more runs.

Mickey Burns relinquished his batting laurels to Vernie Fleck, who augmented his average from .500 to .600, having earned ten hits in the past twenty times at bat. Mickey fell to second place with .461 and Curwin trailed with .412. McKee was charged with the defeat, which is his first of the year.

Paoli opened first fire on the Davismen by scoring once in the opener, but found themselves one run in arrear in the subsequent session when the Narberth boys scored twice without bothering Popalek for a single hit. Fleck raised a fly to left and Humphreys strolled, but was run down off second in an attempted steal. Rubincan was struck by a wild heave and Martin also went to first unmolested when Popalek untethered another wild one and filled the bags. Curwin hit to the pitcher, who threw home to oust Humphreys, and then relayed to first to beat out Curwin. The assist was high of first, allowing ample time for Rubincan to count, and Martin went to third in the meantime, from which base he made for the disc when the maskman executed an over-throw to third as Bob took too big a lead off the base.

McKee kept the foemen silent for the next three innings, allowing nary a hit, while Humphreys scored in the fourth on a squeeze play, performing the feat in a most remarkable manner. The veteran singled into left and went to second on Rubincan's sacrificial nick. The Rube was run down between first and second when he tried to steal his way to the keystone, and Martin ambled to first. Humphreys ran off third and came dashing toward the pentagon as Popalek heaved the ball to Curwin, touching the rubber just as he tapped the ball to the pitcher, who fumbled all over the box while Curwin gained his way to first. McKee was struck out for the second time.

The score was tied in the fourth as Paoli bunched three hits and made good use of an error to count twice, but fell back again in the seventh when Narberth also sent in a run without scoring a hit. Burns walked, but was forced off the keystone hassock on Kearney's bid for a hit. Masters raised a fly to right and Fleck was safe at first when Potter threw high to first, Kearney scoring.

The Paoli rally started early in the eight and gradually gained momentum. When the contest came to a finish they had scored five runs, Kearney's errors aiding materially in the rally. Narberth counted once more in the finale.

Eachus succumbed to McKee's fast ball and Jeina hit lightly to right for one base. Girard, who replaced Tompkins in left field, also failed to touch McKee's speed and when Umback cracked a deep double into centre, Jeina tallied the first run of the inning. Kearney scooped up Sneider's grounder and, misjudging the distance to first, threw over Martin's hands and out into the grandstands, and immediately repeated the remarkable act on Wood's bingle, which act netted them two more points, Umback and Sneider coming over. Wood, however, was wiped out at the keystone when forced by Larkins, Kearney to Rubincan.

The flame of rally still burned with ardor in the following inning, raising havoc with the batpile by tabbing a pair of runs. A single and a double, and the usual blunder, gave the visitors the total of eight runs as against five for Narberth.

The Davismen, however, put up a vigorous battle in the last inning when with two men on Rubincan hit a stinging fly to Jeina on second, who tagged the base for a double play unassisted.
